

Dear contact.nickname,

Welcome to the University of Bath's International Arrivals Newsletter. We'll update you with information and services for international students. In this newsletter, hear about our orientation events and coach service. Plus some top tips from a current international student.

Living in a New Culture

Our Living in a New Culture (LINC) programme takes place in September. LINC includes online and in-person welcome events for all new international students. We will help you settle into your life at Bath, get to know other students and understand how things like banking and healthcare work in the UK.

Airport Coach Service

We are running a free coach service for new University of Bath students from London Heathrow airport to campus, and onward travel to your individual University accommodation. This service is running from 20 to 22 September.

Bookings are now open. You will need your flight details, Student ID and username to book.

There are also Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs) about this service. Find out more about our luggage restrictions, and transport to private accommodation. We also provide information about how to get to the University without using this service.

Thinking ahead

If you are making plans for the year ahead, it's worth knowing that we run many events and trips throughout the year, including during vacation times. In particular, our popular Winter at Bath programme will be running again this Christmas vacation.

The ultimate student checklist

A blog from a University of Bath student

Studying abroad can be a big move, and a bold one when you have not visited the city beforehand. Student Sanjna gives her top tips on what to do before you leave, and after you get here, in order to make your transition to Bath a smooth one.
